Highlights of the Week

As the holiday season of Christmas and New Year draws near, we extend our heartfelt wishes to our esteemed readers for a joyous Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

The ship recycling industry has exhibited a sluggish pace of activity across all destinations. In the Indian market, there was a notable decline characterized by a decrease in prices up to 25 USD. Furthermore, it is worth noting that the demand for recycled materials and vessels is quite low. The current state of affairs in Bangladesh continues to exhibit a distressing condition, mirroring the circumstances observed in the preceding week, characterized by a prominent absence of demand and a complete absence of sales. Currently, Pakistan is encountering challenges in the process of opening LC and managing a sluggish market. Turkey, a country that has experienced a period of notable progress in the past, is currently facing stress and is projected to undergo a decline in the near future.

The price of oil increased by approximately 2% due to concerns among investors regarding potential disruptions to maritime trade and rising supply costs following an attack on ships in the Red Sea by the Iran-aligned Yemeni Houthi militant group.

India

The market observed a downturn and is currently witnessing a decrease in demand.

- The market experienced a decline, with prices plummeting to approximately 20-25 USD.
- A significantly low level of demand is observed for recycled materials and vessels in the current market.
- The expected growth rate of steel demand in India for the fiscal year 2024-25 is between 7% and 10%. This growth rate is comparatively slower than the projected growth rate of 11% to 12% for the current fiscal year, which extends until March 2024.
- The IMF has expressed apprehensions regarding the enduring viability of India's debt obligations. It has been brought to attention that the general government debt is anticipated to surpass 100 percent of India's gross domestic product (GDP) in the foreseeable future. The need for substantial investment to achieve climate change targets was also a prominent focal point.

- The market is currently experiencing a noticeable slowdown in activity, and there doesn't seem to be any consumer interest or demand.
- A lack of sales has only worsened this lackluster performance and added to the general feeling of stagnation in the market.
- The government of Bangladesh has requested a USD 500 million loan from the "Second Recovery and Resilience Development Policy Credit" of the World Bank to stabilize the economy and replenish its foreign exchange reserves, which have fallen to extremely low and alarming levels.
- Bangladesh's economic growth is predicted to slow by 0.3 percentage points to 6.2% in the current fiscal year due to a slowing economy and widespread uncertainty surrounding the January election.

The primary objectives of RISE-II are to enhance fiscal management and foster competitiveness to facilitate inclusive and sustainable economic expansion in a nation grappling with stagnant foreign reserves, persistently high inflation, and limited growth prospects.
