MARKET SUMMARY

INDIA

- The India market came up further this week, with local prices improving on a day-to-day basis.
- The rise was mainly driven by the expectation of government measures on steel imports. Recent reports indicate India has introduced a three-year safeguard/import duty on selected steel imports, starting at around 12% and reducing thereafter, which has supported domestic steel pricing.
- On the vessel side, availability remained limited due to the year-end situation.
- In the last few days, however, there has been no major change, with levels largely holding steady.

BANGLADESH

- The Bangladesh market remained stagnant this week, with no upward movement recorded.
- The geopolitical backdrop continues to keep the market flat, and no meaningful improvement is expected unless there is a major change in the broader situation.
- Market sentiment remains cautious, with expectations that conditions may become more stable and supportive after the February elections.

PAKISTAN

- Pakistan continued to look for tonnage, with the market showing a slightly improved tone compared to last week.
- Sentiment was supported by firmer international indications, as re-rolling and shredded prices moved slightly higher, providing some upside support locally.
- Overall, the change remains limited, and the market continues to depend on international direction for any stronger movement.

TURKIYE

- Türkiye remained quiet this week as the market moved through the New Year holiday period, resulting in limited reportable activity.
- Price levels and sentiment remained unchanged, continuing to mirror last week's position.
