MARKET SUMMARY

INDIA

- The Indian recycling market, which remained soft during the previous week, weakened further this week amid continued subdued buying interest.
- The limited availability of suitable tonnage has restricted market activity, while the arrival of the monsoon season is expected to add further pressure in the near term.
- Further softening may be seen in the coming week, and the market will be closely watched to assess how conditions develop.

BANGLADESH

- The local market remained soft, with most HKC-compliant yards already holding adequate vessel inventories, limiting fresh buying interest.
- Prices had strengthened ahead of the budget on expectations of a significant duty increase. However, duties increased by only around USD 2–5, leading prices to decline again after the budget announcement.
- Buying interest remains limited, with buyers seeking good-quality vessels only at lower price levels, while owners continue to expect higher prices.
- Heavy rainfall over the past two to three weeks has also disrupted yard operations and slowed market activity.
- The Ministry of Industries recently visited several ship recycling yards, highlighting the government's focus on strengthening the sector and restoring Bangladesh's leading position in global ship recycling.

PAKISTAN

- Market conditions remained largely unchanged, with yards awaiting fresh vessel supply.
- The recent decline in domestic shredded scrap prices is expected to put downward pressure on vessel values in the coming week, although the extent of the correction remains to be seen.

TURKIYE

- Aliaga prices remained under pressure, with no improvement following the recent market correction.
- Sentiment stayed subdued amid the continued depreciation of the Turkish lira and limited availability of suitable recycling candidates.
- Yards maintained a preference for larger vessels, although the supply of such units remained scarce.
- The weaker lira continued to constrain Türkiye's competitiveness against the Indian subcontinent.
