MARKET SUMMARY

INDIA

- The local market has remained weak this week, continuing the downward momentum that began last week. Demand from the end sales market has been very poor, resulting in limited movement and subdued activity.

- Buyer interest remains low, and overall sentiment continues to be negative, reflecting cautious market behavior.

BANGLADESH

- The local recycled steel market remains under significant pressure, with small vessel prices being quoted at USD 330–340 levels. This highlights prevailing market discouragement, as smaller vessels typically yield higher volumes of recycled steel and contain fewer steel plates.

- The steel plate market has also softened, though the decline has been relatively moderate compared to the pronounced weakness observed in the recycled steel segment. Overall sentiment remains cautious amid subdued demand and limited pricing support.

PAKISTAN

- The number of HKC-compliant yards is increasing, enhancing the country's recycling capacity. However, the recent flooding in Punjab, a key region for steel production, has significantly slowed down overall market activity.

- Local buyers remain interested but are quoting prices with a cautious approach amid subdued demand and regional disruptions.

TURKIYE

- The market situation remains largely the same as last week, with no notable changes in sentiment or activity levels. Despite expectations for improvement, overall market conditions continue to remain muted.
