MARKET SUMMARY

INDIA

- The Indian market remained positive this week, supported by the USD easing sharply from recent highs following the US–India trade deal, alongside India signing a major trade agreement with the EU. Local sentiment improved on the back of these developments.
- Buyers grew keener to purchase vessels, with an overall feeling that the market could continue to move upwards in the near term.
- Steel demand continues to hold up better than previously expected, adding confidence to the broader market outlook.
- Availability of tonnage remains scarce across all three subcontinent locations, with buyers becoming keener

BANGLADESH

- The Bangladeshi market remained largely quiet this week, although buying interest improved, with a clear preference for fresh candidates; overall participation, however, stayed limited due to HKC-related constraints.
- Tonnage availability remained extremely tight, with only a limited number of units in circulation.
- Domestic steel markets were largely unchanged, with minimal week-on-week movement reported.
- With elections approaching, sentiment stayed cautious, as the outcome is expected to influence near-term confidence and broader market conditions.

PAKISTAN

- The Pakistani market remained firm this week, supported by continued demand from end buyers.
- While broader economic conditions remain challenging, buyer sentiment improved and purchasing appetite remained evident.

- The inflow of lower-priced steel from Iran has paused amid ongoing unrest, providing end buyers with some relief and contributing to improved buying interest.

TURKIYE

- The market remained stable this week, both locally and on import.
- Several import fixtures were reported, with delivery from the end of Feb to early March, reflecting steady activity.
