MARKET SUMMARY

INDIA

- Market sentiment in India has weakened, with local ship recycling prices correcting across all segments in line with softer domestic fundamentals.
- Most recyclers continue to acquire tonnage despite operating at unprofitable levels, primarily to maintain business continuity and keep yard operations running.
- Labour shortages that disrupted yard operations over recent months have largely been resolved; however, extreme heat conditions continue to significantly slow production levels.
- With production expected to improve once weather conditions normalize, the resulting increase in steel supply could place additional downward pressure on local prices amid persistently weak domestic demand.

BANGLADESH

- The negative price correction witnessed last week has curtailed aggressive bidding activity, with recyclers adopting a notably more cautious approach.
- Breakers remain bearish in their outlook, anticipating further price declines in the near term before re-entering the market aggressively.
- Weak domestic steel fundamentals, characterized by declining steel prices and subdued demand, continue to weigh heavily on recycling activity.
- As a result, most recyclers have shifted to a "wait-and-watch" approach, preferring to monitor market direction before committing to fresh purchases.

PAKISTAN

- Market activity remained subdued during the week, with only three working days limiting overall trading activity.
- No significant changes were observed in pricing, demand, or recyclers' buying sentiment compared to the previous week.
- The market remains largely unchanged, with participants awaiting a full working week for any meaningful developments.

TURKIYE

- Market sentiment in Türkiye remains soft, primarily due to lower mining raw material prices, which have placed downward pressure on domestic steel prices.
- Limited demand in the local steel market continues to restrict buying interest, keeping recycling activity subdued.
- Recyclers remain cautious as weak steel demand and softer pricing continue to influence market sentiment.
