MARKET SUMMARY

INDIA

- The Indian market remains firm, with keen interest from buyers for fresh tonnage. Local market conditions have strengthened during the week, providing positive support to recycling sentiment.
- Recent enforcement action against scrap transactions conducted outside the formal GST framework has resulted in a significant crackdown on cash-based trading. With scrap increasingly required to be sold through GST-compliant channels, demand within the formal market has improved.
- This shift has supported a pickup in local scrap demand and prices, keeping recycling fundamentals healthy and buyer appetite for new tonnage active.

BANGLADESH

- The Bangladesh market has softened slightly at the local level during the week, although overall demand for recycling tonnage remains present.
- Price levels for vessels have remained broadly unchanged; however, buying interest is no longer as firm as previously witnessed.
- Buyers continue to show interest in available units, but the slight easing in local market conditions has resulted in a more measured approach to acquisitions.

PAKISTAN

- The Pakistan market remains healthy, although some correction has been witnessed following the sharp increase seen during the previous week.
- Buyer interest continues to remain positive, with demand for suitable recycling tonnage still evident despite the adjustment in local market levels.
- Overall fundamentals remain supportive, with the recent correction viewed as a moderation from last week's elevated market rather than a significant change in sentiment.

TURKIYE

- The Türkiye market remained largely unchanged during the week, with no significant movement witnessed in overall market conditions.
- Domestic steel prices have remained stable, resulting in recycling fundamentals staying broadly in line with the previous week.
- With no meaningful change in steel prices or underlying market dynamics, buyer sentiment and activity continue to remain steady.
